IDLE CHATTER MARK II TURNS THREE THIS WEEK

Happy Birthday to us

Can you believe that our small community has kept our small newsletter going for another year? Your support with sponsorship has been very much appreciated and our newsletter is assured until December this year.

To those who have given me meeting notices, or that function notice, a bit of news that we could share like birthday, baby notices or a special achievement, a poem or a joke – thank you and please keep them coming. They all help to make our newsletter- while also keeping everyone up to date with what is happening in the district.

Once again -Thank you and Happy Birthday to I.C.

IT'S OFFICIAL
I HAVE HAD MY FIRST SENIORS' MOMENT

They say when you turn 60 you are a senior citizen in the making and it is only a matter of a skip and a jump before you join the merry ranks of the older generation. Don't get me wrong I'm happy to age gracefully but I did not think it would be this soon.

On Tuesday 4th August I forgot my hair appointment – this is a little bit more than forgetting that I was supposed to get my hair done I actually forgot to write the appointment down and was so shocked when my hairdresser rang to see if I was okay. She was worried that I might have had an accident, never thinking I'd forgotten.

All ended well – a little magic on my hairdressers' part and I was slotted in. Now I definitely feel much younger with my new hair-do but I'm still very much embarrassed by my lapse. In my defence I would like to point out that this is the first appointment I have ever forgotten and hopefully will be the last for a few more years at least. But I do know it won't be the last that I will hear about it – you guessed it – the man of the house is going to get a lot of mileage out of this piece of forgetfulness.

JULY RAINFALL: Rainfall total for the month of July registered at Quandialla was 101.2 mm over 12 days.

CONGRATULATIONS

John and I were one couple in a very large crowd who supported the Quandialla Pre-School 'Roast Dinner' last Friday evening. On behalf of all who attended I would like to congratulate the pre-school mothers and helpers on the wonderful job they did in making and serving a delicious 2 course meal.

Hopefully it was a successful fundraising venture for their group because it was certainly a huge success from a social aspect.

Well Done Ladies – your efforts were enjoyed by all.

FOR SALE BY TENDER – The old Eurabba schoolhouse which is now in the Convent School yard at Quandialla is for sale by tender.
